

TO: Stakeholders and other NON-Transmission Providers

FROM: Calvin Daniels, RPSG Chairman

SUBJECT: Things you need to know about the Southeastern Subregion Order 890 Strawman

It was posted on Southern's Oasis site last week. See if you think it meets the intent of FERC in their Order No. 890. The address of the Strawman is <http://www.weboasis.com/OASIS/SOCO/SoutheasternSub-Order%20890%20Stakeholder%20Input%20Strawman.pdf>

The RPSG has told Southern we will have comments back on their Strawman by this Friday, May 4. Please get your comments to me, any member of the RPSG committee or even Southern, before then if possible. I believe that the Committee will have numerous comments. This Strawman will be the plan Southern will use to develop its final planning process.

The Strawman must be finalized and posted by May 29. On June 4 the transmission providers will present it at the SEARUC/FERC Technical Conference. After the transmission provider's presentation the Stakeholders will present their comments. If you're going to get involved, now would be a good time.

If you want to get a flavor for how the Strawman compares to what has been going on in other regions of the country try the following Google search - "order 890" 9 principles

Communications to Stakeholders is presently only through Scott Madden Associates, which was hired by the transmission providers to facilitate these meetings. Issues of privacy have been raised in the possible dispersal of everyone's Email address to everyone in the group. However, the RPSG Committee and I agree that the Stakeholders need to be able to converse more openly and in ad hoc groups. I strongly urge you to respond "Yes" to the Email asking if your Email can be sent to the group.
